A quick guide for grown-ups

Use these pages in short, playful sessions. Pointing, speaking and drawing are all valid ways to answer.

Readiness, not pressure

Designed for many children ages 3 to 5, but development varies. Begin with pointing and acting out the words. Add circling or drawing only when the child is comfortable.

Four focus words

ABOVE - higher than something. BELOW - lower than something. BESIDE - next to something. BETWEEN - in the middle of two things.

A five-minute routine

1. Say one word. 2. Show it using two small objects. 3. Try one row on the page. 4. Ask the child to explain or show the answer.

Helpful prompts

Try: 'What do you notice?', 'Can you show beside with your hands?' and 'What would need to move?'. Accept gestures and everyday language before expecting the printed word.

Use and safety

Adult supervision is recommended. Use larger household objects rather than small loose items when they could be a choking hazard. Keep completed pages offline; this website does not collect children's answers.
